YOUR CURIOSITY AND CAREER

#14
for undergraduate teaching
U.S. News & World Report Best Colleges 2018

17:1
student-faculty ratio

65%
of undergrad classes have fewer than 30 students

Be taught, inspired, and mentored by our faculty. Here are a few:
Professor Alwiya Omar, above, teaches Swahili and coordinates the teaching of other languages in the African Studies Program.
Distinguished Professor of Biology Ellen Ketterson leads an initiative to prepare Indiana for environmental change.
Informatics professor Johan Bollen studies topics like how social media affects users’ perceptions about their own popularity and happiness.

Sohile Ali is majoring in intelligent systems engineering. He likes the hands-on approach of his courses, where he collaborates with his classmates on projects that incorporate small scale technology.
200+ majors. Choose one or more.

Do your interests span multiple subjects? Choose a second major and maybe a third. Add a minor or two. Our programs are designed to be combined, so that your education matches your ambitions.

IU also has hundreds of graduate and professional programs. See all of IU’s programs: go.iu.edu/majors

Exploratory
This is our most popular freshman option, enabling you to explore before declaring a major—ideally at the end of your first year. During this time, you’ll be a student in University Division, the academic and advising home for most new undergraduates. You can also start your new exploration at the Career Development Center.

MODELED AFTER HER CAT, COSMO, Little Mister was Kate Lasser’s first large sculpture. The lessons she learned from her art projects and scenic design work at IU set the stage for her creative career: she lives in Chicago, where she’s doing floral design for events and weddings and pursuing her interest in set design.

Jesus Bazán Villicaña studied division of the pathogen Streptococcus pneumoniae in Professor of Biology Malcolm Winkler’s lab, aided by IU’s Light Microscopy Imaging Center. His work could help lead to better antibiotics—and it prepared him well for the M.D./Ph.D. program he entered after IU. He plans to become a physician-scientist focusing on infectious disease.
ADVENTURE
OF A LIFETIME

380+ overseas study programs
give you the world.

They span 60+ countries and nearly 20 languages, including English. Stays range from a few days to a full year.

IU students have interned for Chinese companies and the Australian Parliament. Translated for refugees in Italy. Taught dance to children in Panama. Researched human rights in Morocco. So where will you go, and what will you do?
Get noticed by employers, and get ready to excel after they hire you.

Internships
Get work experience in your future career, build your network of contacts, and see what kind of workplace suits you. Programs like our Washington Leadership Program, Blatt Biotechnology Internship Fund, and Semester in Los Angeles give you options everywhere.

Leadership opportunities
Complete the Hoosier Leadership Program, serve in the IU Student Association, direct a student organization, and more.

Service
Enrich your life and help others through service-learning courses, the Hoosier Service Leaders Program, alternative breaks, and student organizations.

Hutton Honors College
Join a community of scholars and take advantage of stimulating seminars, Honors Residential Communities, unique programs, scholarships, and funding for research, creative activity, and international experiences.

More ways to get experience and prepare for what’s next:
• Train for a financial services career in the Investment Banking Workshop.
• Devise solutions to global policy challenges in the IU Diplomacy Lab.
• Launch your research career in the Science, Technology, and Research Scholars (STARS) program.
• Tell stories through the Indiana Daily Student, IU Student Television, the Student Cinema Guild, and WIUX radio.
• Help nonprofits with technology in the Serve IT clinic.
• Teach students in different cultures through the Global Gateway for Teachers program.
• Debut your mini-collection in the IU Fashion Show.
• Prepare for advanced study and a career in law, medicine, or health through the Health Professions and Prelaw Center.

Senior Lily Young, far left, looks at a tree core sample with professor Kim Novick and freshman Kathryn Hart. In Novick’s lab, Young analyzes temperature trends and studies how atmospheric changes affect plants’ use of water and carbon dioxide.

Sade Roberson interned at nearby French Lick Resort, in the magnificent, historic West Baden Springs Hotel. She learned all about operating a hotel, confirmed that she wants to work in hospitality, and spent a summer doing what she loves: making guests happy.

Stunning
WE’RE THE MOST INSTAGRAMMED PLACE IN INDIANA.

HERE’S WHY.

Plan your visit: go.iu.edu/visit
You can feel the Hoosier spirit in every IU tradition.

You’ll treasure these traditions forever. And they’ll give you and your friends reasons to return as alumni.
You’ll find your place in the IU family.
IU is full of ways to form deep bonds, explore what matters to you, and feel at home. It all starts in your residence hall.

24 residence halls and apartment complexes
New students are required to live on campus, and you’ll be glad you did. You’ll make your first IU friends here. You’ll also have easy access to tutoring and advising—one of the reasons that students who live on campus do better academically. Plus, our 30 dining locations have options for all tastes.

25 learning communities
Live with students who share one of your interests, like business, health careers, or media. You’ll explore that interest together through courses, trips, social events, and career-related programs.

Welcome Week
Kick off the fall semester with exciting activities and time-honored traditions that introduce you to IU life.

FYE, your first-year guide
The Office of First Year Experience Programs (FYE, for short) will support you during your first year. Its programs and events will help you start strong and build a foundation for your entire IU experience.

750+ student organizations
We have the one (or five) for you. Besides having fun, you’ll build your network of connections and get leadership experience.

6 cultural centers and institutes
Celebrate cultures you love, and find others you want to learn more about.

Students from 50 states and 150+ countries
Our 33,000 undergraduates and 10,000 graduate students include people of all kinds, expanding your worldview.

Bloomington, the perfect college town
IU is located in the heart of this 84,000-person small city. Shop on Kirkwood Avenue. Enjoy international cuisine. See great shows. Explore miles of trails. And find even more people and activities you like.

650,000+ IU graduates who will support you
IU alumni are everywhere, and they’re eager to help another Hoosier. One of the world’s largest alumni networks, they’ll mentor you and connect you with opportunities—while you’re a student and throughout your career.
How to apply

We’ll guide you step-by-step. Start here, and then learn more and apply: go.iu.edu/apply

1. Get ready to apply
   Start early. Review our application options, required materials, and deadlines so you know what to submit and when you’ll receive a response.

   November 1 is the early action deadline (non-binding) and scholarship deadline. To meet this deadline, you must submit a complete application for admission (including official transcript and test scores, and IU-specific essay) by this date.

Application deadlines

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Submit a complete application by this deadline:</th>
<th>Receive no response later than:</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>November 1</td>
<td>January 15</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>February 1</td>
<td>March 15</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

All applications submitted after February 1 will be considered on a space-available, case-by-case basis.

2. Complete your application
   Choose your application at go.iu.edu/apply. You have three options for applying to IU Bloomington:
   - Apply IU Application
   - Common Application
   - Coalition Application

   Even though you have three options for applying, you should submit only one application for admission to IU Bloomington. No preference is given for any one application over the others, and the items required to complete each application are the same. The admission review process is also the same for all three applications. The application fee is non-refundable. You also need to:
   - Submit the IU-specific essay as part of your application.
   - Submit your official high school transcript.
   - Have your ACT and/or SAT scores sent to IU Bloomington directly from the testing agencies. Make sure you send all your scores because we superscore.

3. After you apply
   We’ll thoroughly review all your materials.

   Create your IU computing account so you can check the status of your application and To Do List online at one.iu.edu.

   If you’re a transfer, intercampus transfer, adult, military/veteran, or second degree applicant or a visiting student, visit our website to learn how and when to apply for undergraduate admission: go.iu.edu/how-apply

   Accomplished and global: our 2017 freshman class

Get moneysmart

Our Moneysmarts program helps you establish good financial habits, make informed financial decisions, and reduce your debt.

Since 2011, we’ve helped IU Bloomington undergrads reduce their collective annual student-loan borrowing by 10 percent, or $12 million.

Among our 2016–17 bachelor’s degree recipients, 55 percent graduated with no student-loan debt, compared to about 30 percent nationally. In total, about 80 percent of our bachelor’s degree recipients had no student-loan debt or had a student-loan balance below the national average.
